

In 1616, Dirk Hartog was the first European to officially discover the West Coast of Australia. He left a pewter plate nailed to a post.

