

2 FEBRUARY 1788 Many people were sick from scurvy and needed fresh vegetables. The Governor ordered a garden to be prepared. However, all the seedlings died.

