PACHYDERM
PALACE

Detective Bear and Sherlock Panda are investigating some strange happenings at the zoo.

Someone has eaten all the peanuts — there are shells everywhere!

WHO DID IT?

CLUE Someone with wrinkly grey skin and a large trunk...

PALACE

It was Miguel, the rare South American wandering-mouse. Peanuts are his favourite food. He'll travel anywhere, just to eat one...or two...or three...

PERU

Someone has redecorated the cage. It's been painted in stripes. It looks very smart!

WHO DID IT?

CLUE Someone with whiskers, sharp claws and a furry tail...

It was Lulubelle, the stylish leopard. She was tired of spots, and thought stripes would make a nice change for summer.

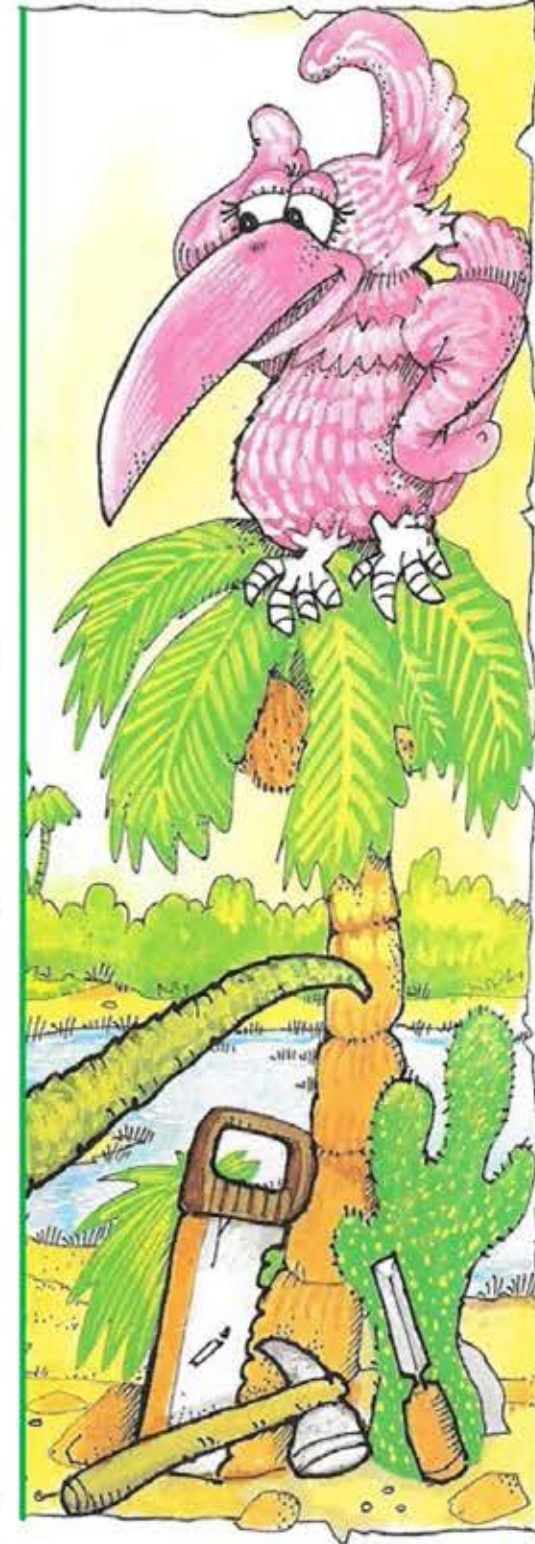

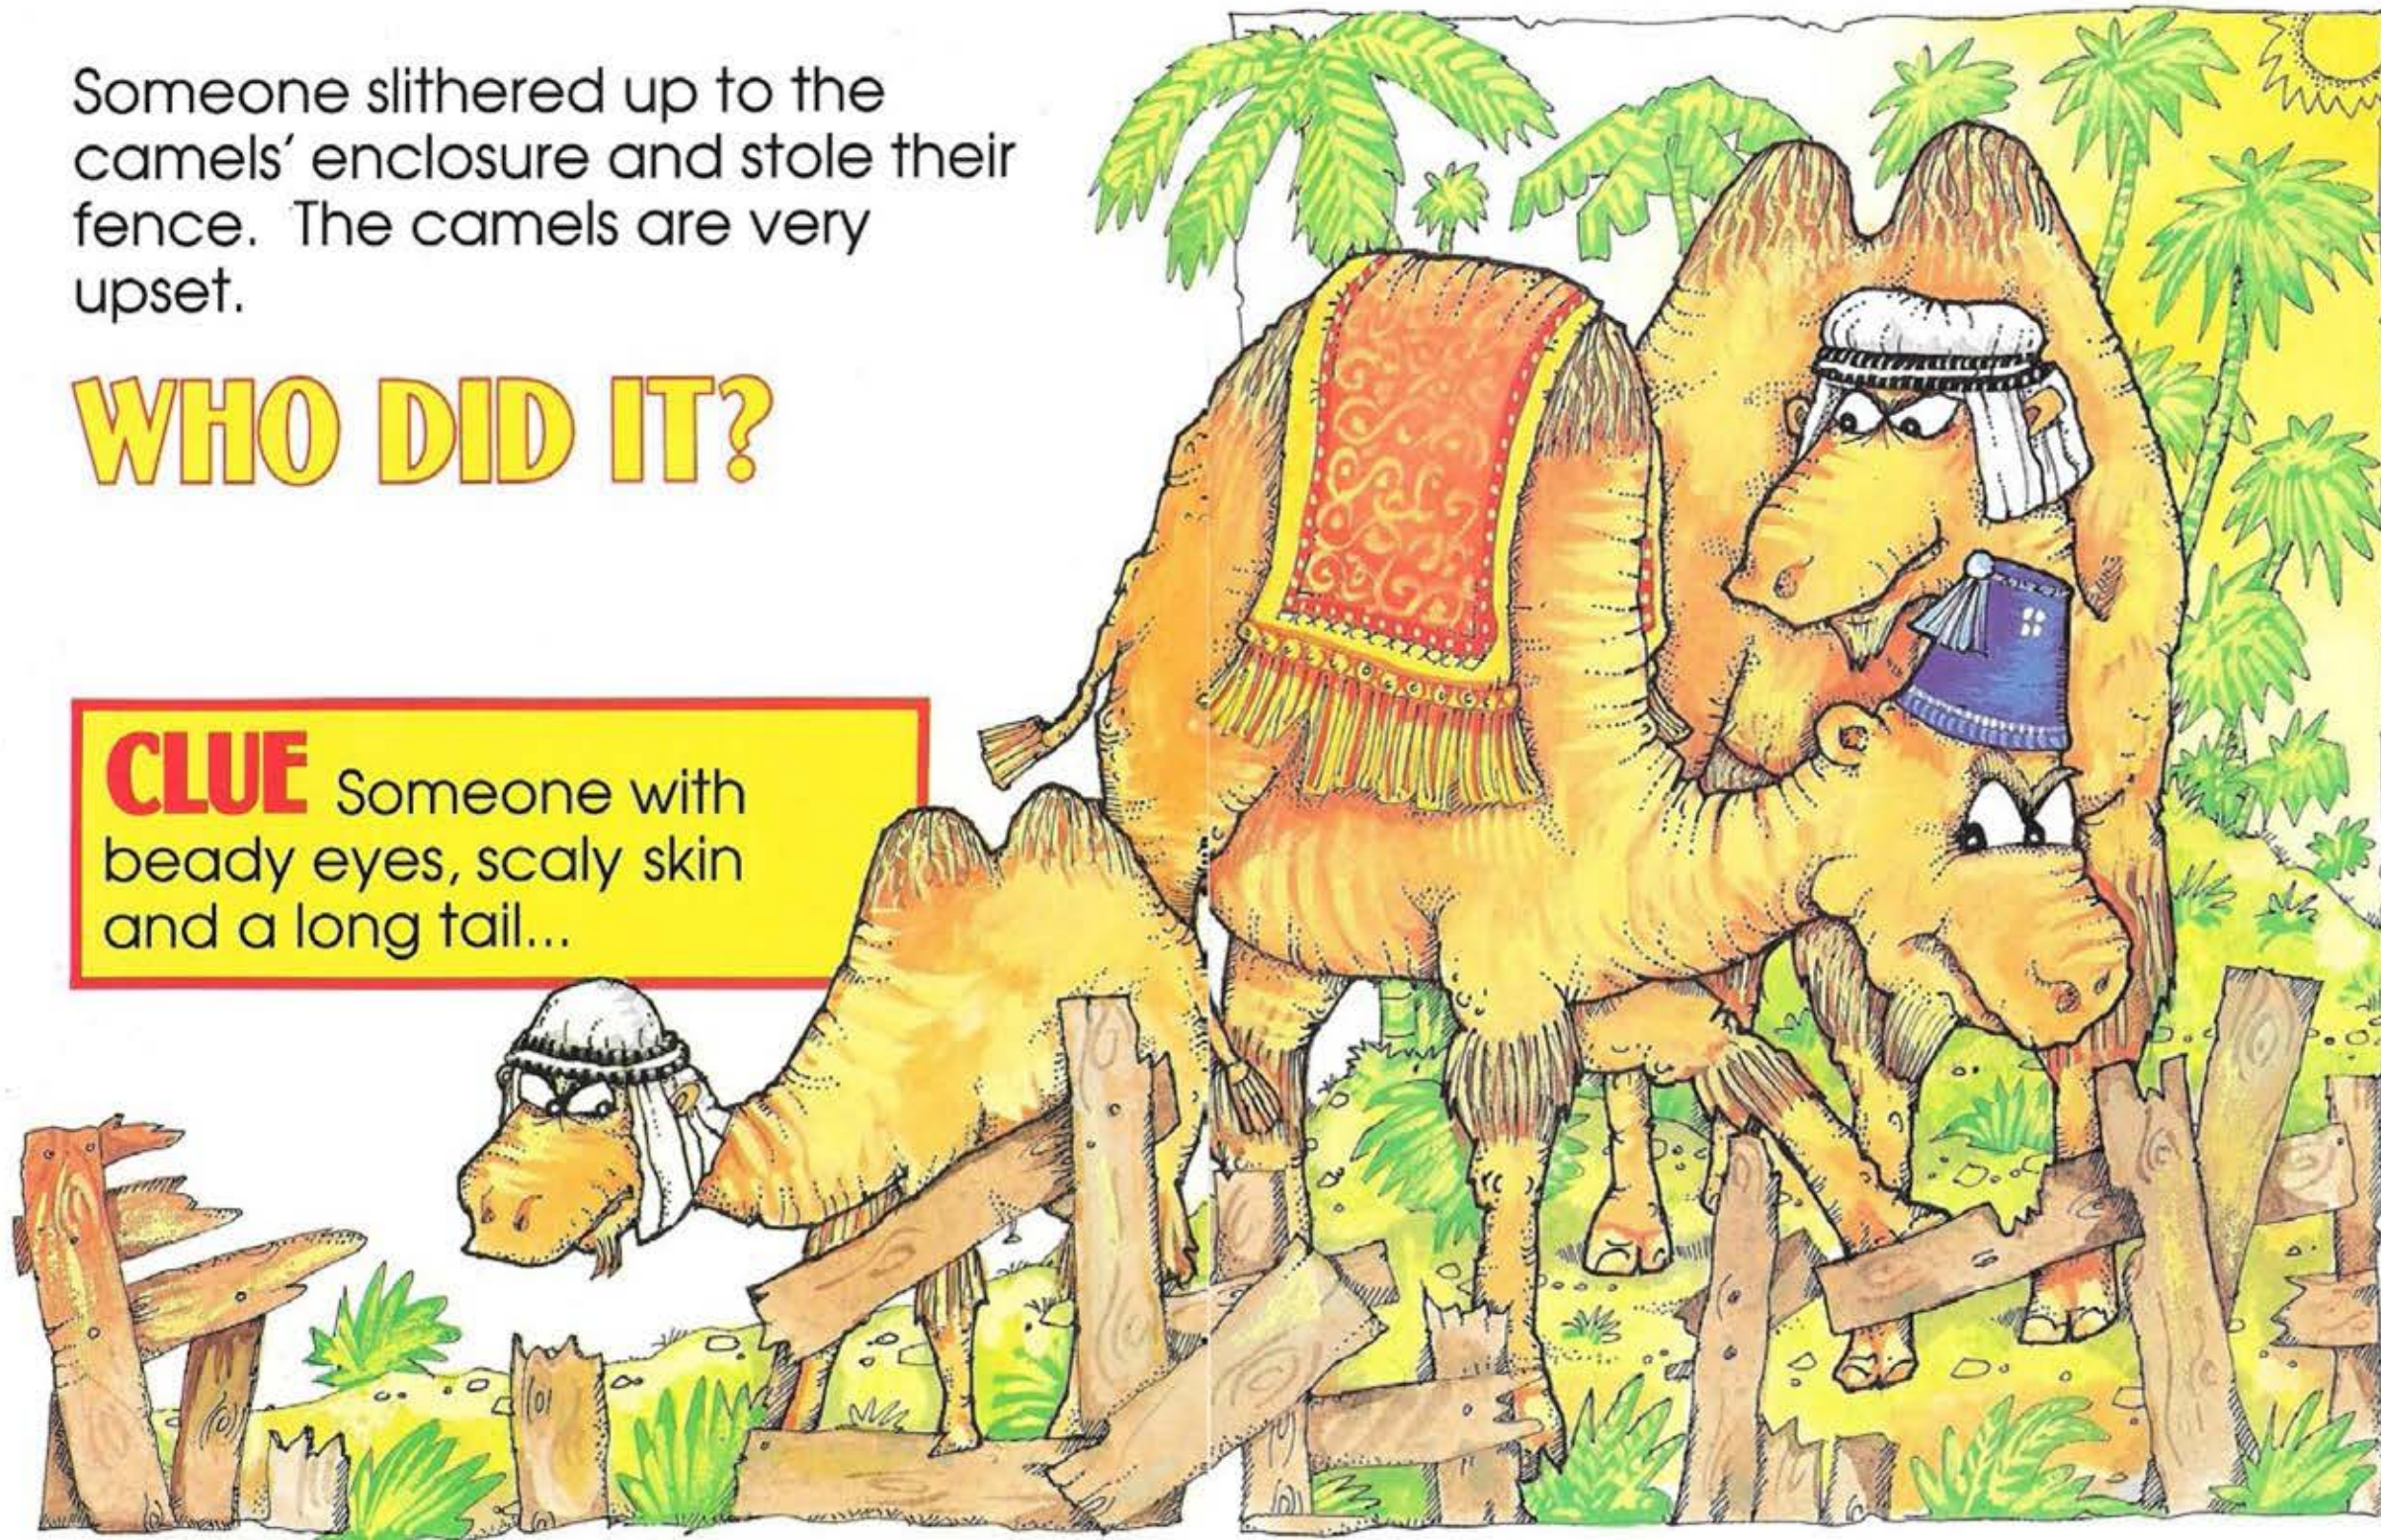

Someone slithered up to the camels' enclosure and stole their fence. The camels are very upset.

WHO DID IT?

CLUE Someone with beady eyes, scaly skin and a long tail...

It was Clyde, the sneaky crocodile.

He was given a 'do-it-yourself' book for his birthday and decided to build himself a new home.

SEALS

Someone has been playing tennis near the zoo kiosk. The window is broken.

WHO DID IT?

CLUE Someone with shiny, wet skin who loves to swim...

SEALS

It was Albert, the short-sighted hippopotamus.
He was practising his shots for the zoo tournament. Perhaps he'd better find somewhere else to practise — for everybody's sake!

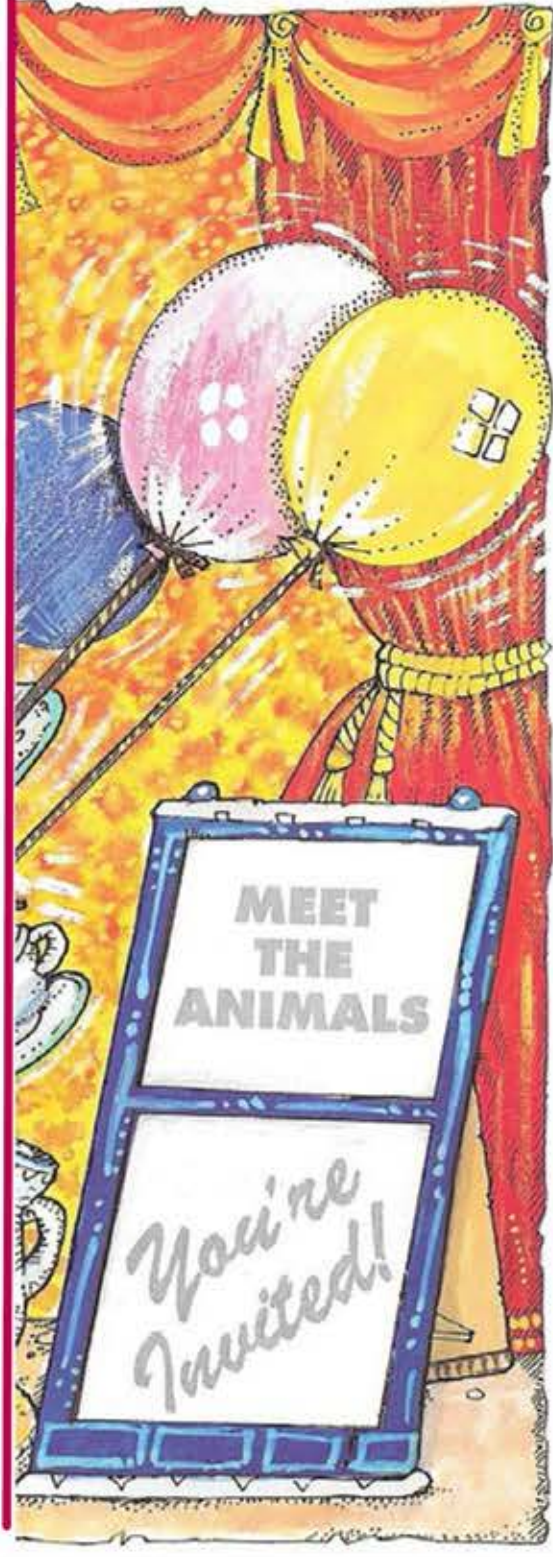

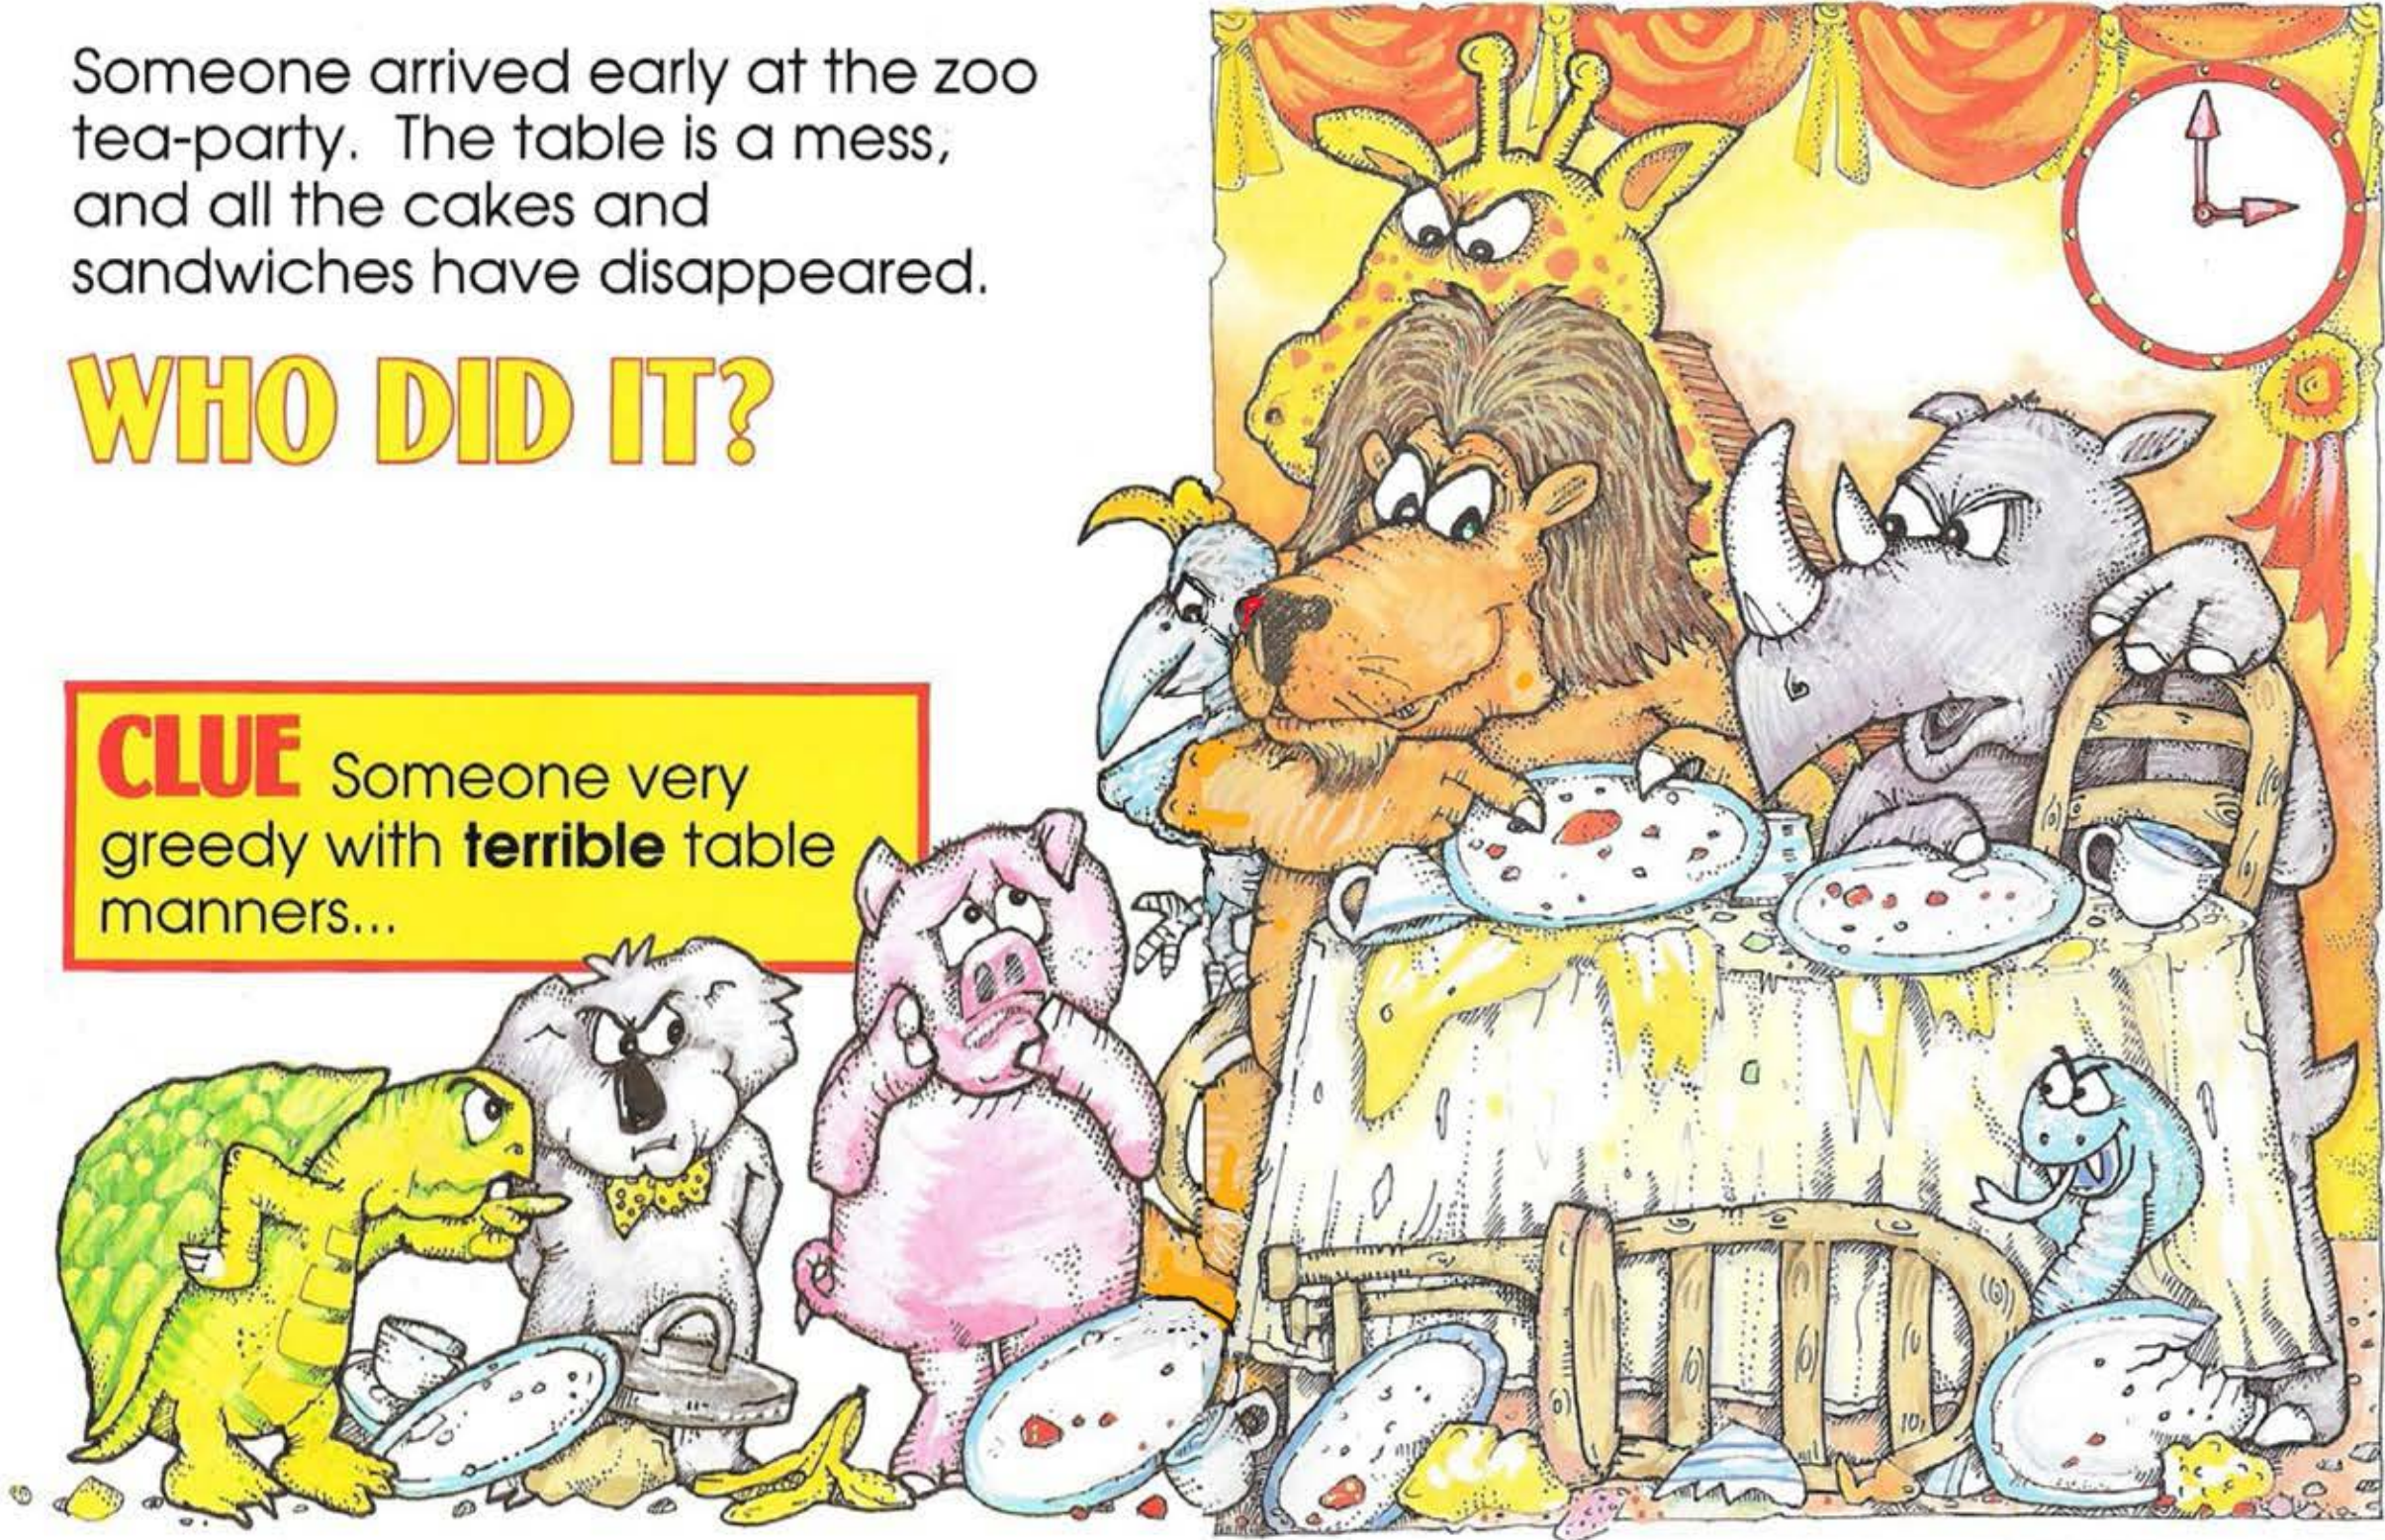

Someone arrived early at the zoo tea-party. The table is a mess, and all the cakes and sandwiches have disappeared.

WHO DID IT?

CLUE Someone very greedy with terrible table manners...

It was Ah Ming, the cheeky orang-utan.
She just loves going to parties, especially when she's the only guest.

ZOO

CAR PARK

BUS STOP

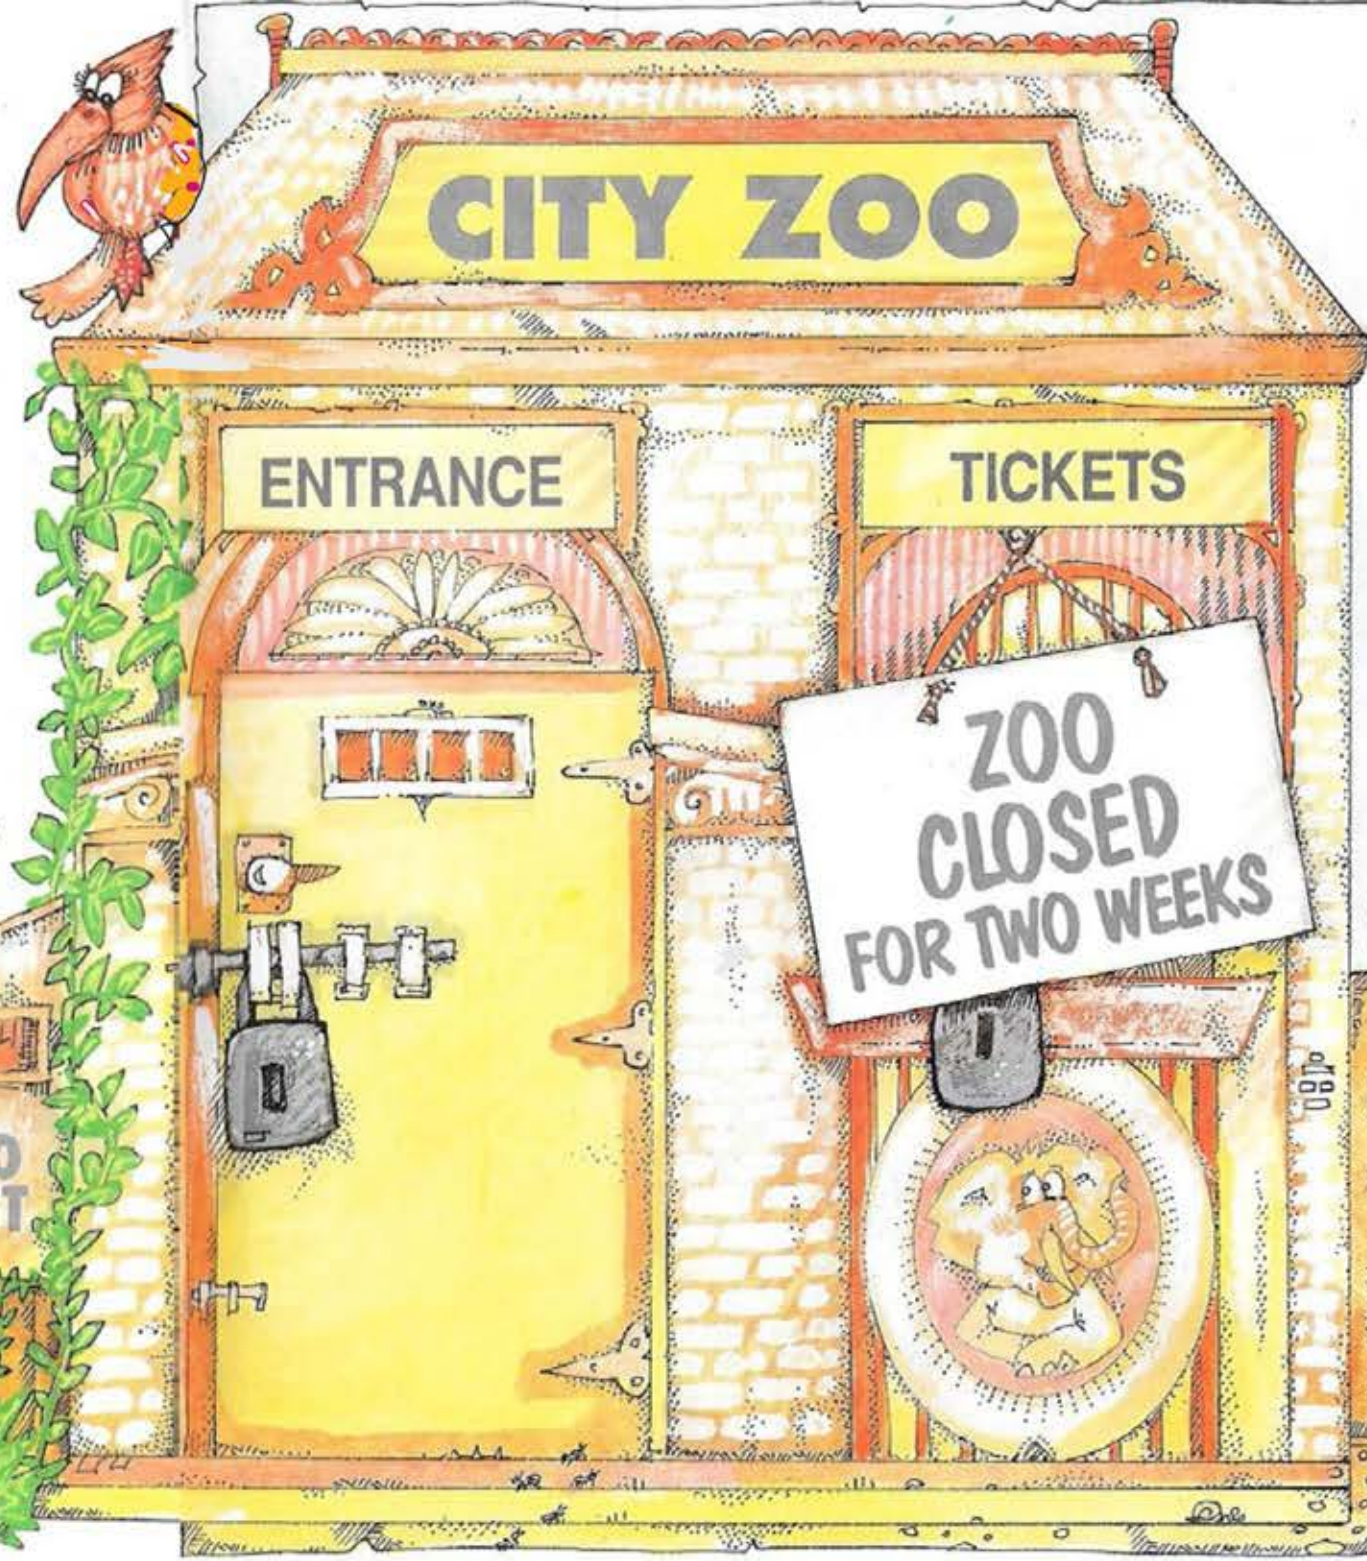

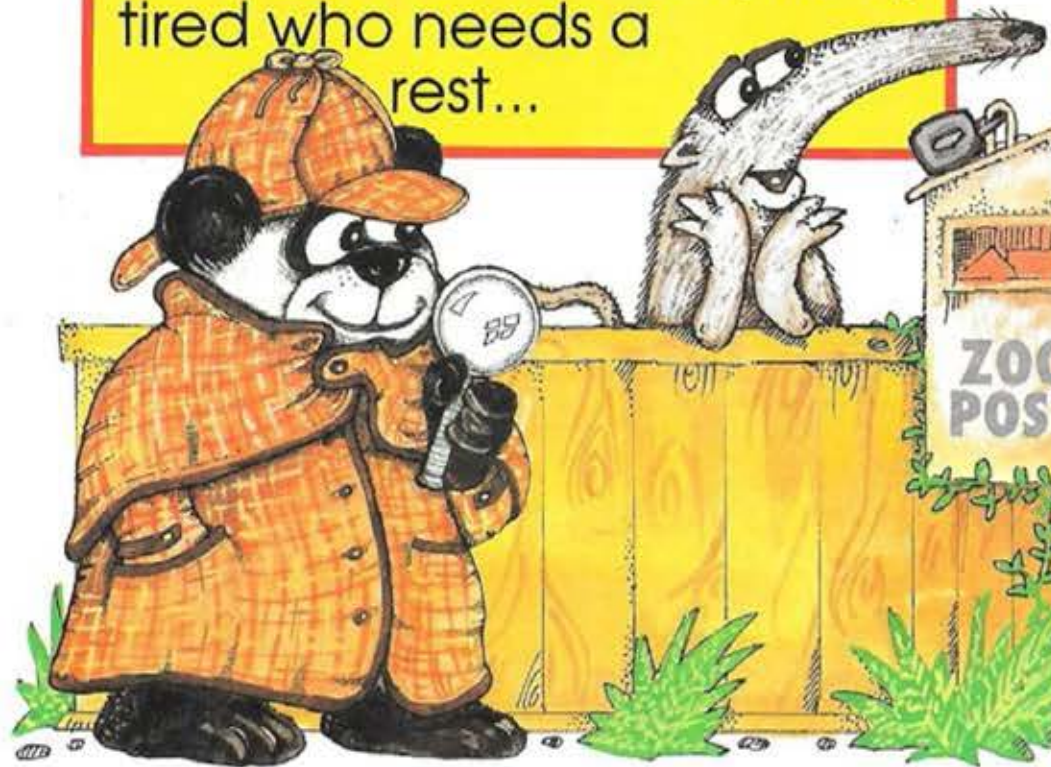

Someone locked the zoo entrance and hung a notice on the window.

Detective Bear and Sherlock Panda know who did it —

DO YOU?

CLUE Someone very, very tired who needs a rest...

ZOO

BUS STOP

It was Mr Fosdyke, the exhausted zoo-keeper.

His bags are packed, and he's going on holiday. Looking after those zoo animals is very hard work!
